Berlin is an attractive, fast growing city with a dynamic image. Berlin is not only popular among party goers from all over the world - the city also attracts many musicians and other artists. Dear nightlife politicians, researchers, specialists and activists – it’s time to face this reality!

For the first time the NIGHTS 2016 Berlin – STADT NACH ACHT – conference integrates several perspectives for a healthy, safe and sustainable nightlife and brings together different stakeholders in this field. Health and safety related issues as well as pleasure, culture, economic factors, tourism, urban development and nightlife policy will be an important part of the conference. The conference will create a unique space to meet each other, to share knowledge and experiences and to identify good practice. It will also be a great opportunity to set-up new networks and projects and to participate in the mystic Berlin night.
